

Agua de Limón con Apio

Limeade with Celery (Makes 8 cups)

1-2 stalks fresh celery, cut into 3" pieces

1 cup freshly squeezed lime juice (about 6-7 limes)

2 quarts (8 cups) cold water

$\frac{3}{4}$ cup sugar

→In a blender, combine 1 quart (4 cups) of water with the celery. Blend on high for 1-2 minutes until completely liquid.

→Strain through a fine mesh colander into a pitcher to remove any fiber. Add the fresh squeezed lime juice, remaining water, and sugar. Stir until the sugar is completely dissolved.

→Chill in refrigerator and serve over ice.

NOTES:

- You will definitely be able to taste the celery if you use two stalks. If you use only one stalk of celery, the taste will be mellower.

-

Recipe Source: Adapted from MelissaGuerra.com.